

A-MAZE-ing Sea Jellies

---

Instructions

Sea jellies, like the Sea Nettle, use stinging cells on their tentacles to help them catch their prey. The arms in the center help move food to their mouth. Sea Nettles will eat plankton, swimming snails, and even small fish! Follow the tentacles to see which one has caught a small crustacean known as copepod!

